

Yeah, he sat at my table. *
Anyways since I was never a threat to him he left me alone most of the time. Fortunately no one ever physically assaulted me in school. Only time that ever came close to a physical fight was this stupid black kid, Jordan Richardson kept making sexual verbal gestures in my computer class; touching my workspace (keyboard, mouse, etc) and eventually caused me to fall out of my chair and onto the hard tiled floor. I couldn't even speak, I was so enraged. That was in 2009. I was just too much of a wimp to speak my mind and stand up for myself between 9th and 11th grade. There was a lot on my mind in high school and bullies were at the bottom of the list. You always have weak stupid shit like that happening every day but it added to the rage. Eric Waters, Henry Bant, Matt Reagan, Jordan Richardson, Billy Kaleta, Jeff Statchnick, Cameron Lupole, Chris Scharff, and the guy who sat at my art class table in 11th or 12th grade can fucking burn to death.