

I see cops passing the store on the road every once in a while. There's a police station like 2 miles from there. I guarantee Brian will get a call out; part of me hopes so you can hear it on the tape. I'm gonna record it all anyway but that would NEVER air. I'd have no time to send it anywhere.

I hope I inspire more shootings, big or small. This is pretty small scaled but alone it's decent. That order better be fucking decent that night. I need pallets to block these fucking doors, man! I hope Wells loses 50-75% of its customers after this and goes out of business there. I hope people feel uneasy and vulnerable in there after this. As of right now in Wells markets is officially Columbo High School.

I'm gonna destroy Victoria's head. She'll be completely beyond recognition. I want Brian to die the fastest; he's been through enough but I still see him surviving with I had longer range weapons but being there's so many displays in there, it'd be just as hard as shooting slugs across the building; there's hardly any clear shots. I fucking hope I shoot Victoria first. With each shot I'll feel release and spiritually closer to going home. I need to be fast so no one gets away or hides; I don't have the time to search 4-5 department storage coolers (behind the counters); deli, seafood, bakery, meat, produce.