

I was sent here to help make a difference for people through video productions, as well as to find my inner rebellious and assertive side. I was sent to cause religious debates (big or small), to realize I can't achieve everything I've set out to do, to realize I'm truly a woman between the everlasting age of 16-19, and to show that it's okay to be different. I needed to find the courage and strength inside of me to overcome my biggest fears about growing up (getting a job, getting a driver's licence, graduating from high school/college, meeting and engaging with people, and to move out of where I've called home for the last 22 years or so).

It's all about discovery, setting and achieving goals, and making something memorable to inspire future generations. If you truly believe deep down of what you believe exists, you're right.
